The Doomsday Celebration. We have just received from the Royal Historical Society of England a circular notice of the decision to commemorate in October, of the present year, the 800th anniversary of the completion of the Dooms-day, or Domesday, Survey of England. When William the Conqueror passed over from Normandy in 1006 and took possession of Great Britain, he established in his new dominion the military organization of Europe, which was known as the feudal system. Being a great statesman and administrator, as well as the first soldier of his time, he set about his work in a perfectly methodical way. The experience of his Nor-man duchy had taught him that the greatest danger, in the administration of England, was to be apprehended from the powerful noblemen who had accompanied his expedition, and whose power was practically little inferior to his own. According to the gentle amenities of the time be commenced by "putting out of his way" the four greatest earls, and then com-pelled all the others, among whom he had parceled out the English territory, to take the oath of fealty to himself personally. Each earl, in his turn, let out his land to members of the inferior nobility, who each swore fealty to the immediate lord, and ton National Republican, under date of divided his portion of the land among vas- Aug. 7, or twenty-four days before the sals and freemen of various degrees, reserv-ing certain privileges, which mainly consisted of military service in time of war and certain fibes to be paid on the marriage of are brief, definite, and exactly to the point."

a daughter or the knighthood of an eldest His assurance of verification was much a daughter or the knighthood of an eldest son. Such duties and fines are now known as the incidents of feudalism, and readers who care to understand something of their practical operation will find the subject treated with a light hand in Sir Walter Scott's immertal "Ivanhoe." The prescribed form of cath which sternly bound the entire population of a country to the service of the Norman adventurer ran as follows: "Here, my lord," swore each vassal, from the highest noble to the meanest freeman, as kneeling bareheaded and without arms, he placed his hands within those of his superior. "I become liege man of yours for life and limb and earthly regard; and I will keep faith and loyalty to you for life and death, God help me!" Then the kiss of his lord invested him with land as a "fief" to descend to him and his heirs forever. In other countries such a vassal owed fealty to his lord against all foes, be they king, noble, or robber. By the custom, however, which William estab-lished in England, each subtenant, in addition to his oath of fealty to his immediate lord, swore fealty directly to the crown, and loyalty to the king was thus established as the supreme and universal duty of all But our amiable friend William was not satisfied with forms of oath or any other state ceremonials. Each oath represented a certain portion of land, and the king hastened to make as accurate a survey as his ministers and judges could procure of the real and personal estate of the country. corded in Domesday Book, so called from elomus Dei-the house of God-the name of a room in Winchester Cathedral where the records were bestowed. This book, in two volumes, was, according to its own statement, completed in 1086, a year before the death of the conqueror. Its compliation was a work of wonderful care and industry. "Persons called the king's justiciaries visited in person or by deputy the greater part of the kingdom and obtained the requisite particulars on oath from the sheriffs, lords of manors, parish priests, rocves of hundreds, bailiffs, and villeins of each village."

The record, we are told, contained a list of the bishops, religious houses, great men, king's manors, king's tenants-in-chief and under tenants, the particulars of the name of each place, its holder, its extent, with extent of wood, meadow, and pasture, ponds and mills, quantity of live stock, value of the whole, homages of each man, the number of villeins and freemen, and how much each freeman owned. It is somewhat remarkable that the record contains no account of Winchester or London. The census is of very little value, like some of its modern namesakes. Only fourteen-hundred tenants-in-chief are mentioned, with eight thousand subtenants, and the enrolled population is represented by the number 282,242, a little more than the population of Washington during congressional

But numbers and size do not constitute greatness or much stimulate interest. Our present interest in the venerable Domesday manuscript arises principally from the fact that about three-fifths of the population of the United States are descended from the men whose names are inscribed in those

But to return to the celebration in Oc tober. The commemoration will take the form partly of a series of meetings for the reading of papers and the publication of a volume of "Domesday Studies," and partly of an exhibition of manuscripts at the pub-lic record office and the British museum It is proposed that the papers shall, as far as possible, deal with "Domesday Book" as a whole, but without excluding local in quiries which may lead by inference and emparison to results of wider application Later surveys and censuses may also be discussed if they are in any way illustrative of "Domesday Book." The following subjects for papers have been proposed, and the committee will be glad to receive the names of persons who will undertake to read papers on these or any other analogous subects: "The History of the MSS, of Domesday and Their Custody;" "The Purpose Occasion, and Objects of the Survey; "The Order of the Compilation:" "Omis sions From Domesday;" Limit of the Survey, and the Cause of the Cmissions of Certain Districts;" "Ancient Themesne;" "The Boroughs and Cities;" Fhires and Hundreds;" "The Distribution of Socage Tenure Throughout the Country:

taposition of Personal Names in Domesday;" "The Classes of Tenants;" "The Danegold and the Fiscal System of Domesday Generally:" "Legal Forms in Domesday:" "The Clamores, Occupationes, and Invasiones;"
"Courts and Jurisdictions;" "The Measures of Land;" "Comparison of the Domesday Surveys With Other Surveys," such as "Exon Domesday," "Winton Domesdays," "Gheid Inquest," "Gloucestershire Fragent," "Inquisitio Eliensis," "Liber Niger of Peterborough," "Survey of Linday,"

Bolden Book. The Royal Historical Society desires to nake this exhibition as complete as possible, and the committee hope that the owners of all manuscripts bearing on the subject of Domesday will lend them for the pur-pose. The dean and chapter of Cauterbury Cathedral and the principal librarian of the British museum have consented to take charge of any documents that may be

On the retirement of Hon. S. P. Rounds from the public printership he will enjoy the felicity of having been indorsed by two Presidents and three successive Congresses. In a word his administration was in the highest degree satisfactory, and he leaves to his successor the best disciplined and equipped office of the kind in the world. Since his sojourn here Mr. Rounds has made many friends; indeed, it may be stated that he has the good will of everyhody in Washington whose good opinion is worth having. The same push and enerprise which characterized his adminis tration of the great trust which he relin uishes is destined to make the Omaha Republican one of the most important political factors in the land. Always affable and courteous to all who had business relations with him, his absence will be generally regretted, especially by the thousands of employes who so faithfully contributed toward making the complete success which he enjoys. We trust that his lines may always be cast in pleasant places, and that he may not allow his absence to prevent his remembrance of the hosts of friends whom he leaves in Washington.

Our judicious chronicler of the passing days, Public Opinion, of this date, contains an article from the Baltimore Herald, which awards the highest commendation to Prof. F. I. Capen: "The men who positively predicted the earthquake of Tuesday weeks ago are coming forward in large numbers, but only one of them is really entitled to a hearing at the bar of science. This is Prof. F. L. Capen, an earnest and conscientious student of physical phenomena, who made and published a prediction in the Washingactual occurrence of the shock. The words of the prediction are not veiled in convenient mystery or astrological jargon, but stronger than appears: for in the same jour-nal, Aug. 28, he says: "In due time shocks of awful and terrific energy will be reported from their usual localities."

Tun offensive Democracy of Maine sent a committee to scout about the country to obtain money to develop the prohibition vote in that state. In Washington they found the Democratic coffers were empty, In New York city they succeeded beyond their expectations. Query: What does a non-partisan Mugwump Inoffensive administration need of money in a political canvass? Perhaps it is for St. John. The Republican temperance vote of Maine cannot be bought, nor demoralized by the tricks of St. John, who is nothing more no less than a demagogue.

We urgently invite attention to the report of Mr. Maryin C. Stone's paper cigarette-holder manufactory in this city, printed in to-day's paper. It will be found nteresting, and even more than interesting -astonishing, Mr. Stone, the incenious inventor, is a Washingtonian. Had we others like him, employing so many per sons, the population of the city would not take long to reach a million souls.

Breakfast Table Letter to the President

Ms. PRESIDEST: On the 29th of this month there will be opened here an industrial exposition under the patronage of the colored Masonic lodges of this District. Every article on exhibition will be the product of the colores people. It is expected that you will honor the ccasion by your presence.

The negro race in America is a wealth-pro fucing race, and constitutes about one-eighth of the population of the United States. This race, by their labor on the plantations in the old slave states from 1840 to 1886, covering a period of forty-five years, at farm valuations, has contributed to the wealth of our country a grand total of $10,000,000,000-this vast sum in excess of the labor required to clothe, to shelter, and to feed them. It was practically a donation by the negro race to the white race of $10,000,000,000. This wealth was created by them in the cultivation of four crops, the four great staples of the south. In the forty-five years named the crops aggregate as follows:

The sugar crop..... 580,000,000 Making a grand total of ......... 10,000,000,000

These figures are official. Notwithstanding this statement, Mr. Presient, notwithstanding the guarantees embodied in the constitution of the United States recores of letters are received from intelligent olored men of the south, complaining of their condition. From one received from Louisiana yesterday the following extract is made: "There a large number of persons who would emtrace the opportunity of locating elsewhere, to better their condition, as nothing but slavers stares them in the face for the present and future terms of their existence. I could to-day e part of the country, where they would be independent and free citizens," This must appeal to your brain and con clence, and needs no comment.

IMPORTANT ARMY CHANGES.

Three Brigadier Generals to be Appointed Shortly. Between this and Oct. 12 President Cleve-land will be called upon to appoint three brigadier generals in the army. There are now two vacancies in this grade, caused by the retirement of Surgeon Gen. Murray and Gen. Newton, chief of engineers. The third vacancy will occur Oct. 12, when Brig. Gen. Potter will be retired on account of age. It is commonly believed in army cir-cles that Col. Buane will succeed Gen. Newton, that Col. Baxter will be made sur-geon general, and that Col. Wesley Mor-ritt, of the 5th cavalry, will succeed Gen.

geon general, and that Col. Wesley Morritt, of the 5th cavalry, will succeed Gen. Potter.

Before the close of the present year there will be a number of important changes among the field officers of infantry regiments. The death of Col. Lewis C. Hunt will make Lieut. Col. Anderson, of the 9th, colonel of the 14th, send Maj. Brayton to the 9th as ileutenant colonel, and promote Capt. Theakor, of the 16th, to the majority of the 15th. Col. Whistler, of the 15th, will retire on account of age Oct. 19, which will make Lieut. Col. Crofton, of the 13th, colonel of the 15th, Maj. Bush, of the 6th, lieutenant colonel of the 13th, and Capt. Lyster, of the 19th, major of the 6th. On Dec. 8 Col. Bradley, of the 13th, will reach the age of 64 and be transferred to the retired list. He will be succeeded by Lieut. Col. La Motte, of the 12th, which will make Maj. Bates, of the 20th, lieutenant colonel of the 12th, which will make Maj. Bates, of the 20th as major.

Should Col. Merritt succeed Brig. Gen. Potter, the 5th cavalry would get Lieut. Col. Wade, of the 10th for Col. Wade would be succeeded by Maj. Hunt, of the let, and Capt. Hamilton, of the 5th, would go to the 18t as major.

In the early part of 1887 Lieut, Col. Chipman, of the 7th infantry, and Col. Wilcox, of the 12th, will be retired for age, the former going out Feb. 1 and the latter Arrill 16. Chipman's retirement will make Maj. Drum, of the 14th, lieutenant colonel, and advance Capt. Wikoff, of the 11th, to a majority. By the retirement of Col. Wilcox, Lieut, Col. Minner, of the 10th, and Capt. Success of the 12th, good the 1st as major.
